Introducing TraceLink Agile Issue Management

The global pandemic has put a spotlight on the vulnerabilities of pharmaceutical industry supply chains. A more agile supply chain is critical to respond to unexpected disruptions. Engaging internal and external supply chain, manufacturing and direct materials partners in a collaborative issue resolution and process improvement methodology is a crucial first step to making sure your company is prepared in this "Next Normal."

TraceLink will discuss how its Agile Issue Management solution can deliver immediate action for companies looking to make their supply chains more agile. TraceLink Agile Issue Management provides one platform for pharma and contract manufacturing organizations to collaborate with internal stakeholders and external trading partners to track and resolve supply chain issues and rapidly respond to disruptions.

In this webinar, learn how Mike Barga from Patheon by Thermo Fisher, is using Agile Issue Management to rapidly identify supply chain issues and drive overall performance improvements with suppliers.
