Hi, I'm Dan Wallace, the General Manager of TraceLink's, Track and Trace and Compliance business.

I've been in the healthcare and life sciences supply chain for more than 20 years. And I've personally been working with healthcare systems and retail pharmacies for more than seven years on DSCSA, or the Drug Supply Chain Security Act.

DSCSA strives to ensure that counterfeit, adulterated, and illegally diverted prescription medicines do not make it into the U.S. supply chain.

So, how can we help?

More than 250 health systems and retail pharmacy chains work with TraceLink to meet their DSCSA compliance needs. With TraceLink, your pharmacies can:

- Electronically connect to manufacturers and distributors when sourcing Rx product.
- Receive data from all suppliers in the specific formats required by the law.
- Instantly verify products as part of a suspect product investigation.
- And avoid hiring new staff by using our Healthcare Operations and Services Team to support you through audits, when managing exceptions, and when adding users and suppliers.

Finally, leveraging our unique network approach, TraceLink has pioneered new solutions for managing product recalls more efficiently and predicting drug shortages before they impact patients.

To summarize, DSCSA is complex. But TraceLink makes it simple.

Please contact me and our team of compliance experts to get started now.
