

TRACELINK UNIVERSITY

Home

Resources

TraceLink University

Receiving advice acceptances transactions

Receiving advice acceptances streamline goods transportation between entities to verify and manage delivery details efficiently. Receiving advices acceptances is sent by the ship-to-party (receiver) to inform the shipper (sender) of the receipt of goods. Additionally, receiving advice acceptances highlights any discrepancies or issues related to the shipment.

Receiving advices acceptances plays a vital role in ensuring effective communication during the transfer of goods, fostering transparency, and accuracy in supply chain operations by allowing the receiving entity to confirm receipt, report discrepancies or damages, and reconcile delivery details with related documents like purchase orders or advance shipping notices. Receiving advices acceptances serves as a tool for reconciling the received shipment ensuring the accuracy of the goods received against the initial order and shipping notification.

Related Content

Forecast plan (IDoc)

Forecasting APIs allow companies to exchange data about anticipated product demand and supply availability with upstream supply chain Partners without giving these Partners access to their serialization system of record.

View More

Forecast plan (X12)

Forecasting APIs allow companies to exchange data about anticipated product demand and supply availability with upstream supply chain Partners without giving these Partners access to their serialization system of record.

View More

Forecast plan response (IDoc)

Forecasting APIs allow companies to exchange data about anticipated product demand and supply availability with downstream supply chain Partners without giving these Partners access to their serialization system of record.

View More